

Help! We're super busy & want to share the fun...

We're looking to connect with a few awesome Durham photographers & photo assistants.

Right now, this isn't a consistent hourly job, but a mix of work depending on our client needs.

For the right person tho, it could grow into a nice long-term gig.

We need assistants & new photographers to train:

- Assistants: newer photographers who'd like to assist, do photo tech on Mac & iPad, and want to be mentored to grow into a larger role
- Second-Shooter photographers to work on larger events with us, or work solo on simple PR assignments

We are looking for full-time freelancers because it's really hard to pick up our work, if you also have a full-time day job.

We are also open to mentoring reliable, talented college photo students who plan to stay in the Durham area for several years.

The photographers we're looking for have these qualities:

- Flexible, friendly personality, reliable communicators
- Solid photo skills, teachable & always wanting to learn more
- Strong business skills to take care of the client in a professional, timely manner
- Excellent lighting skills. Portable flash skills for events is critical (training available)
- Work well independently with little need for client direction
- A body of work in PR/Event photography we can point clients to

You MUST submit: Portfolio link or recent gigs showing PR/event photos & images showing on-camera flash work. Not just 'natural light' work.

Due to the volume of responses, we can only respond to people who submit work for review.
